'Too High,' Allows For No Tax Cuts, Critics Complain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (A)-Republicans expressed great pleasure today at President Eisenhower's plans to keep government spending within income for the third straight year.

Democrats criticized the new budget, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, on a variety of grounds. These included the fact that it calls for the heaviest spending ever in a peacetime year, and allows for no tax cuts. Some Republicans also had a too high" complaint against the $71,800,000,000 spending figure.

However, House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) commented: "In times like these we don't usually cut budgets much. Rep. Martin (R-Mass), the mi-

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 16 (A) - The Senate Judiciary Committee today killed a bill which would have enabled Maryland to join an interstate compact to conserve oil and Maryland produces no oil and only a small amount of gas in Garrett County.

Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, said the compact is similar to a 'professional society" of oil and gas producing states.

In voting an unfavorable report. the committee said the law would be too binding on future legislation for such a small gas producer as Maryland.

Columbus Day Holiday

Two Baltimore senators want the public schools of Maryland to join the state government in observing Columbus Day Oct. 12 as a legal holiday.

Sens. DiDomenico (D-Balto 2d) and Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) have sponsored a resolution requesting local boards of education to close public schools on the anniversary of America's discovery. The day is already a legal holiday in Maryland, and the resolution notes it "carries deep and profound significance to the people of this state and of the nation." The resolution

Underwood's Political Brew Still Bubbling

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 16 The political brew which Gov. Cecil Underwood started warming on the back burner with his premature oath of office was still bubbling today

A subcommittee of Senate Democrats announced it could find nothing to justify Republican aspersions toward the road and purchasing departments.

Heads of those departments likewise entered disclaimers of any knowledge about unusual purchases in advance of the new Republican administration taking of-

These developments came as its business away from the floors of the two chambers.

House and Senate were in session only briefly before adjourning until 2 p.m. tomorrow, but there were caucuses on both sides. Committees also were at work and the flood of proposed new leg-

Poland Schedules Free' Elections

How free will next Sunday's elections in Poland be? From a vantage point half a hemisphere away, it seems safe to predict that they will be no freer than the 1947 elections that consolidated the Communist hold on Poland. In the balloting 10 years ago, the Government bloc, composed of Communists and Socialists, won outright control of Parliament. The official totals were 9,003,682 votes for the Government bloc, 1,154,847 votes for the Peasant Party of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk.

Only one ticket is allowed in the voting this year in Poland. An innovation is that the people are being given a choice of candidates. The Communist-dominated National Front ticket is made up of candidates of the 'nited Workers' (Communist) Party, the United Peasants, and the Democrats. All are pledged to support the building of a Socialist state in Poland. It is illegal to organize anti-Socialist parties. There are about 720 candidates for 459 seats. Voters can strike out the top names on the ticket-those of the Communists-if they wish to express opposition to the regime of Wladyslaw Gomulka, first secretary of the Communist party. Or they can protest by striking out all the names. A ballot unmarked is automatically counted as cast for the Communists. Perhaps the most effective means of protesting would be by not voting at all.

Gomulka is something of a hero to the Polish people because of his championship of the national independence of Poland and his resistance to dictation from Moscow. He was released from prison early in 1956, reinstated as a full Communist party member in August, and restored to power in the party in October. But Gomulka has been "running scared." On the eve of the election he was reminding the people that the events of October had "above all" demonstrated that his party had "strengthened our state sovereignty." In the same breath he spoke of the necessity "to consolidate our strength with that of our friends of the Socialist countries headed by the Soviet Union.'

The New Bricker Amendment

Among the first resolutions introduced in the Senate is the recurrent Bricker Amendment which everybody wants passed but which is nevertheless ducked because the White House has come to believe, despite John Foster Dulles's early endorsement of the basic idea, that whereas it would be a good amendment if someone else were in office, its passage now would imply a lack of confidence in President Eisen-

Every President is likely to feel that any measure clarifying, enunciating or limiting his use of power is a personal criticism. Unfortunately it is in the nature of most important men to regard themselves as superlatively wise, humility being the characteristic of the prophet rather than of the

The revised Bricker Amendment reads as follows: "Section 1. A provision of a treaty or other international agreement not made in pursuance of this Constitution shall have no force or effect. This section shall not apply to treaties made prior to the effective date of this Constitution.

"Sec. 2. A treaty or other international agreement shall have legislative effect within the United States as a law thereof only through legislation, except to the extent that the Senate shall provide affirmatively, in its resolution advising and consenting to a treaty, that the treaty shall have legislative effect.

"Sec. 3. An international agreement other than a treaty shall have legislative effect within the United States as a law thereof only through legislation valid in the absence of such an international agreement.

"Sec. 4. On the question of advising and consenting to a treaty, the vote shall be determined by Yeas and Nays, and the names of the Senators voting for and against shall be entered on the Journal of the

What makes the Bricker Amendment important is within the nature of the American constitutional syslem. Is a treaty ipso facto the law of the land even when the provision of a treaty violates the Federal Constitution? Are the provisions of a treaty so forceful that they may vitiate provisions of state constitutions or cancel out provisions of state legislatures? Must the enforcement provisions of a treaty be passed by Congress as laws or do they go into effect as soon as the treaty is ratified by the Senate?

In a leading case on the subject, Missouri v. Holland, the court held:

'Acts of Congress are the supreme law of the land only when made in pursuance of the Constitution. while treaties are declared to be so when made under the authority of the United States. It is open to guestion whether the authority of the United States means more than the formal acts prescribed to make the convention.

No matter how this paragraph is constructed, it does not settle the question. Rather it opens up the discussion as to the nature of a treaty, the nature of acts of Congress and the relation of the Constitution to both. As during the period of World War II and immediately thereafter the United States entered into secret agreements of various kinds with Soviet Russia and other countries and whereas some of these agreements have become exceedingly disturbing to the American people and now seem to be leading to warlike measures, the Bricker Amendment becomes important because it would establish beyond doubt that no treaty could be made which violated any provision of the Constitution. Senator John Bricker cites this:

"Examples of the effect of Section 1 are: a treaty would be invalid if it undertook to impair freedom of speech, press or religion; and a treaty would be invalid if it undertook to take private property without due process of law and just compensation."

The current revision of the Bricker Amendment, it would seem, meets all the criticisms and objections, except the psychological one that no President likes legislation passed during his term of office which even the Yemenites might regard as a loss of confidence in

President Eisenhower Should Send Truman On Goodwill Trip To India

WASHINGTON - Now that President Eisnhower has told his staff he will not accept Prime Minister Nehru's invitation to visit India, and now that Harry Truman has come so emphatically to the support of Ike's Near East doctrine it might be a good time for some Presidential reci-

In brief, now is the time for Truman to be drafted to take a good-will trip to India and Southeast Asia.

This suggestion is not made for the purpose of glorifying Mr. Truman, but because the status of American prestige in southeast Asia is not good, also because American envoys in that area have been urging the State Department to send a top-level American as a good-will ambassador.

Just as the Queen of England, Princess Margaret and the Duke of Edinburgh are kept busy visiting various parts of the world, so the United States must necessarily send distinguished citizens on good-will tours.

Bulganin and Khrushchev got a tremendous reception when they visited India, Burma, Pakistan and Afghanistan, but nothing of moment has been done since then to counteract their success. Secretary Dulles did make a trip to this area-with little or no benefit. The Burmese Government even refused to let him land on their terirtory.

Last year Mr. Truman took a trip on his own to western

Knowland's Merry-Go-Round

The political pot is still boiling as a result of Sen Bill Knowland's bow-out of the Senate. Here are some of the brews being concocted: Gov. Goodie Knight of California is being talked about as Secretary of Labor. Knight is one of the few Republican governors who have won friends among labor. His promotion to the Labor Department would pave the way for Knowland to run for Governor. Vice President Nixon wouldn't favor this, but some of the men around Ike would like to stave off a split with the Knowland-GOP conservatives . . . Jim Mitchell, able Secretary of Labor, wanted to resign, but has agreed to stay on for the time being. Not a man of wealth, Mitchell has a hard time making both ends meet in Washington, probably will bow out before the next four years.

Immediately after Knowland's announcement, Robert Kirkwood, California comptroller, phoned him to ask his OK to run for the Senate. Knowland gave the OK

Knowland get too firm a grip on California, he's a dead duck in his race for President in 1960. Nixon is certain to face some primary races, can hardly escape a primary showdown in California. The Knowland machine could probably beat him . . Democrats are gloating over the Republican furor in California. With Republicans split, they regard the Senate seat as theirs. It looks so promising that Pat Brown, popular attorney general who has his eye on the governorship, might run for the Senate instead. Other Democratic candidates are: Alan Cranston, head of the California Democratic Council; Dick Richards, who made a good race last November; and Congressman Cecil King. Cranston has the advantage of being from the north and heading the Democratic outfit that endorses the candidates.

No Aid For Israel

One fact which has raised Congressional eyebrows over the proposed Eisenhower doctrine is that it would not be applied to protect Israel, even if Egypt, with Russian arms and technicians, attacked.

Chief danger of war in the Near East is that Colonel Nasser with his tremendous supply of Russian arms will attack Israel. Having won a big diplomatic victory over the West, yet smarting over defeat from the Israeli Army, Nasser is in a position where he has to make new moves to maintain his reputation. The most likely move is against Israel.

However, in answer to questions from Congressman Jim Fulton, Pennsylvania Republican, Dulles ruled out any United States action to stop an attack on

'Would we go to Israel's assistance if it asked for help?" inquired Congressman Fulton.

'The plan doesn't apply unless it is being attacked by a government under the control of international Communism," replied Dulles.

"But if the attacking country has arms and technicians provided from Communist sources?" pressed the Pennsylvania Congressman, referring to Egypt or

MORNING MEAL

New Englanders are this country's heartiest breakfast eaters. It has been ever thus. In 1806, John Lambert, a traveler visiting Massachusetts wrote, "We had a typical New England breakfast consisting of eggs, fried pork, beefsteaks, apple tarts, pie, pickles, cheese, cider, tea and toast dipped in melted butter and milk.

The police in a Chicago suburb still scratch their noggins over the taxpayer who marched into the station house with a 2-monthold daughter in his arms, asking not only that she be fingerprinted and foot-printed, but that she be given a summons too on some umped-up charge. He wanted all this for her baby book! Impressed by his thoroughness, the cops charged the baby with creating a disturbance in the station house. "She did, too," grins one sergeant. To our knowledge, pregnant women with leukemia do not pass it on to their offspring, nor does it spread from person to person.

But leukemia can be transmitted to baby mice by a special technic. Dr. Steven O. Schwartz, of Northwestern University medical school, prepared a filtrate from the brains and tumors of white Swiss mice that had developed the illness spontaneously. Of 105 mice, 70 became leukemic, 95 per cent within 25 days after inoculation.

When the filtrate was heated to kill the viruses prior to inoculation, the mice escaped the disease. Dr. Schwartz and associates also injected into laboratory mice solutions from the brains of patients who died of the ailment. They were able to reproduce leukemia in 63 of 306 animals. These studies lend support to the viral theory of the cause.

Modern treatment is aimed at relieving symptoms temporarily, thus prolonging life. Chronic leukemia is treated with X-ray, radloactive phosphorus, and the nitrogen compounds. The most frequently used remedies in the acute type are the anti-vitamins widual diseases.

tagonists such as 6-MP; and the adrenocortical hormones, cortisons or prednisone. These products have increased life expectancy from six weeks to many months. Some cause remission of the disease. Many physicians feel that a cure for acute leukemia may be just around the corner. Afflicted youngsters who gain a reprieve through the use of current treatments may survive long enough to berrefit by future discoveries in this field. RETINAL DETACHMENT

Penalty Put On Grabbing Of Face Masks

NCAA Vetoes Move To Add Grid Subs

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16 P-The powerful football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. today slapped a 15yard penalty on protective face mask grabbing, but turned thumbs down on a motion to expand the substitution rule.

The 25-man group, directed by Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, ended its annual three-day meeting with a morning session.
